Gators Play Rough In Muddy Finale

Even though the Hornets came out of San Francisco State's Cox Stadium after a 20-20 tie with the Gators, they brought home the 1964 Far Western Conference Championship. It was the first league title for SSC and was coupled with the team's finest overall record at 8-1-1.

On their first offenseve drive of the game, the Gators moved to the SSC 43, where quarterback Randy Ketlinski, rushed by John Landgraf, fumbled on the Hornet 46. Bill Fuller fell on the ball and set up the first Hornet score.

Miller to Crumback

End Larry Crumback, wide open on the SFSC 22, hauled down Bob Miller's pass and carried the ball in for a 54-yard touchdown play. Gary Smith kicked the conversion for a 7-0 lead.

Initiating a drive on their own 21, the green and gold marched 79 yards behind key pass receptions by Gary Kelley and the rushing of Homer Mascorro to set up the second TD. Miller's two-yard plunge culminated the march. Smith kicked the PAT for a 14-0 Hornet lead.

Pearson Recovers Fumble

Safety Othel Pearson fell on a Tom Piggee fumble on the Gator 39, and the Hornets again threatened. Mascorro's 21-yard sprint and Miller's 14-yard aerial to Kelley set the ball on the SFSC two. However, a determined Gator defense held the Hornets and took over possession on downs.

Building up momentum, the bay city eleven began their first scoring drive on the Hornet 47 after Tim Tierney picked off a Miller pass. Don McPhail, replacing starter Ketlinski, utilized running backs Piggee and Jerry Brown and receivers Mike Burke and Mike Meyer in leading the Gators to the touchdown. Brown went over right guard from two feet out to score. Gil Haskell's conversion kick marked the first successful PAT against the Hornets in league play this year.

Gators Tie Score 14-14

The Golden Gators took up where they left off in the second half, executing a 73-yard scoring march behind the rushing of Brown and Piggee. Brown plunged over from the two and Haskell booted the extra point to tie the game at 14-14.

Following Joe Cavallaro's punt, Burke fumbled to Hornet Randy Heckman on the Gator eight. Miller ran over right tackle from four yards out to score. When Smith's kick was wide, the Hornets remained out in front 20-14.

Unable to use Mike Clemons for a field goal attempt, SSC failed on a fourth down pass on the SFSC 22. The Gators took posession and began a 78-yard TD drive in 17 time-consuming plays. Brown, scoring his third touchdown of the game boomed over from the three to tie the score at 20-20. Pat Dooley, 200 pound junior tackle,

Symphony Gives Concert

SSC Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of John M. Lewis, associate professor of music, will present a free public concert in the Little Theater at 8:15 p.m. today.

Participating in the performance will be students and other musicians from the surrounding communities who regularly play in the orchestra.

Selections by Wagner, Haydn, Copland, and Ward will be included in this evening's concert. These selections will vary in mood from the gentle to the bold.

Tonight's audience will have a chance to hear one of Robert Wagner's most memorable works, Die Meisstersinger (The Mastersingers).

This music drama is his first and only attempt at comedy and truly a most successful one for it is considered one of the glories of all symphonic literature. It is one of the most human and lovable operas and maintains a mood of serenity and gentleness.

Following in the line of great composers and their compositions is Joseph Haydn's Symphony #70 which Lewis has selected to perform from the 99 symphonies which Haydn wrote.

This evening's concert will also include some contemporary pieces. Aaron Copland's Billy The Kid Suite, which is one of his major works, also will be presented. It is one of his several scores for ballet which is built out of American folk music.

Robert Ward's Fanfare for enlarged brass section and percussion will be the remaining number in the program.

Political P. R. Man To Talk On Elections

C. William Queale of Queale and Associates, a Sacramento Public Relations firm specializing in legislative matters and political campaigns, will speak in the Little Theater today at 1 p.m.

Sponsored by the Distinguished Visitors Program of the Cultural Programs Committee, Queale's speech, "Election Reflections," will be concerned with the campaign methods used during the recent general election.

Queale established his firm in Sacramento in 1947 and since has set up a branch in San Francisco to handle diversified interests in Northern California. The firm has successfully handled campaigns for elective offices in the United States Senate, Congress, the State Legislature, and the Sacramento City Council.

Since 1947 the firm alone or with Whitaker and Baker — a well-known California public relations firm — has handled the campaigns for 16 statewide ballot propositions and has lost only one.

Queale's background as a newspaper reporter, editor of a small town weekly, and as a legislative aide has been the source of a broad background for these campaigns.

A past president of the University Club and the Advertising Club, Queale has taken an active part in Sacramento community affairs since establishing his business here. His firm also has managed the Sacramento Camellia Festival for the last five years.

The public is invited to attend the program without charge.

Campus Hosts Trustee Meet

Trustees of the California State Colleges will meet on campus Dec. 3 and 4 in a regular session to review development in the state's educational program.

Governor Edmund G. Brown, president of the trustees, will preside over the general session scheduled for Friday. In addition, the governor will attend a trustees luncheon.

Meetings set for Thursday include the first committee meeting at 9:30 a.m. and the joint meeting a 1 p.m. in the reserve book room of the library. All sessions are open to the general public.

College officials announced the closing of the reserve book and browsing rooms in the library Wednesday afternoon through Friday of next week. Materials will be available at the reserve book desk.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke and Charles Luckman, a trustee, have been invited by the college to participate in special groundbreaking ceremonies initiating construction of the new campus science building. Ceremonies are slated for 11 a.m Thursday.

Blue Key Debate

Comerchero Hits Athletic Budget

By Madeline Dean

What began as an informal round-table discussion for Blue and Silver Key members last Sunday evening flared into a one man attack on present budget policy.

The protaganist was Victor Comerchero, English instructor, whose demand that action be taken against the lack of an adequate cultural affairs budget was met with reservations but not with disapproval.

His complaint was that the present budget is structured on the basis of tradition and precedent but that it has no justification. This campus, he continued is culturally impoverished with very little intellectual stimulation.

The overriding principle in drawing up the budget, SSC president Paul Sax noted, is that money is not allotted for new programs at the expense of others. The Board of Finance he explained recommends a budget to the BOD who merely rubber stamps their report with a few exceptions.

Pat Donavan, coordinator for cultural affairs, came in at this point in support of Comerchero. Priorities, he agreed must be established, but if this is the case then it is the responsibility of the college to change values which become meaningful to students.

Naturally, football and athletics identifies the college to the community. It is, however, he mused, as stimulating as a gladiatoral contest. The shift must be made from an athletic centered economy to one of refinement.

The issue, he contended, is not just athletics vs. cultural affairs but a basic value judgment.

The discussion shifted to more basic issues centered on the new college union. Comerchero could not see the need for such a building before plans had been made for an auditorium which he considered vital to the cultural enhancement of the campus.

Blue Key member Tom Bloom refuted this idea on the contention that practicality must be considered first and that a college union can expect the most income.

No real conclusion was reached so far as Comerchero was concerned because he was primarily concerned with what action would be the result of the meeting. The purpose of the discussion was to inform members of the Blue and Silver Key about the factors involved in the issues which they felt had been clouded by reports in The Hornet.

No one at the meeting formally represented the Athletic Department.

Rees Heads Nation Wide Speech Study

Dr. Maryjane Rees, director of the college Speech and Hearing Center, has been granted a two-year leave of absence to design a national study of the speech and hearing services offered in America's public schools.

Planned by the American Speech and Hearing Association, the study will be an attempt to determine the present needs and current speech and hearing services being provided by American public schools and the factors which regulate the effectiveness of this service, according to Dr. Rees.

As project director for the study, Dr. Rees will work with the committee of speech and hearing specialists in planning and designing the study. She will be employed by the Association during the design phase of the study.

According to speculations, the study will take an additional five years and will cover public schools and school districts of all levels throughout the country.

Dr. Rees presently is director of the SSC Speech and Hearing Center, a clinic which has been established at Sacramento State in connection with the training of speech and hearing clinic workers for the public schools.

She received her Ph.D. degree in speech pathology and audiology from the State University of Iowa.

From 1947 to 1951, she was director of special services in the La Grande, Oregon, Public Schools. In 1961, she was editor of the ASHA Convention abstracts, and served as associate editor of the Journal of Speech and Hearing Disorders.

Since 1962, she has been book review editor of the Journal.

"Personal liberty is the paramount essential to human dignity and human happiness." Bulwer-Lytton.

If you've already been promised a vice-presidency, fine.

(But if you haven't, check with us.)

We won't waste your time. Your first job will be in management. (Since nearly all our job offers go to above average students, we can afford to bank on your managerial potential.) From there on, right up into middle or top management, your pace will be in direct proportion to your performance.

We have opportunities in marketing, business and technical administration, engineering or public contact work. That's one of the advantages of working for a company that's doubling in size during the 1960's —we need all sorts of talents and temperaments.

Making vice-president with us may take a little time ... and some doing. But you'll feel like a vice-president when you get there.

SSC Places In Debate

The speech tournament held here last Friday and Saturday hosting 300 students from 25 different senior and junior colleges yielded satisfactory results for our teams Dr. Hubert Knepprath, assistant professor of speech said.

Competing in three events, oratory, debate and interpretative reading, our students fared well. Orene Burt won second place in Junior Women's interpretative finals while Sue Walima placed second in Senior Women's interpretative finals.

Two of our debate teams, Linda Witcher and Ryan Tetlow, and Chuck Fisher and Jim Byrnes made three wins and one loss in the preliminary rounds but were not in the finals.

Senior Pictures

Appointments for senior portraits, to be taken by the Bill Smith Photography Studios on Dec. 9 and 10 should be made in the Statesman office, Douglass Hall 109, Dec. 2-4 from 12 to 2 p.m.

Pictures are $3 for four poses, payable at the time the portrait is taken. They will be taken on Wednesday and Thursday from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 4 p.m.

This schedule is applicable to all those students who have not yet made arrangements to have their portraits taken a the Bill Smith Studio, and wish to have them taken on campus.

Epstein To Speak On Statistics

"Probability and Statistics" will be the topic used by Dr. Benjamin Epstein as he speaks on Nov. 30 at 10 a.m. and 12 p.m. in the Ribera Room and at 8 p.m. in Physical Science 111.

Dr. Epstein's main interest lies in the connection with problems arising in science and engineering. He is presently a consultant in Statistics in Palo Alto, California.

The 10 a.m. lecture is aimed primarily at the undergraduate student. The noon meeting is directed toward the faculty, and the evening meeting leans toward the undergraduate. However, all meetings are open to anyone who wishes to attend.

broke through the Gator line and blocked Haskell's kick attempt — the maneuver that provided SSC with the league title.

Neither Wanted Tie

Both teams passed in a futile effort to break the deadlock, but time ran out and the Hornets were crowned conference champs.

As a result of Humboldt State's 14-7 victory over the Cal Aggies, San Francisco fell to third place behind the Lumberjacks. The league champions finished with a 4-0-1 record, and only four touchdowns allowed in the five games, three in the final game.

Miller Voted Player Of Week

Quarterback Bob Miller has been selected by the Hornet as the Player of the Week for guiding the Sacramento State gridders to a 20-20 deadlock with powerful San Francisco State, thus bringing home a Far Western Conference title and a possible Camellia Bowl bid.

Miller got the Hornets started quick by tossing a 54-yard scoring bomb to Larry Crumback on the first play from scrimmage.

And while the Sacramento rushing attack was being kept to a 55 yard total, Miller was compensating for it with his passing arm. He tossed 10 completions in 27 attempts for 174 yards.

Besides this, he scored the two other Sacramento touchdowns on roll-outs of two and four yards.

"Peace won by compromise is usually a short lived achievement." Winfield Scott.

Cross-Country

SSC Harriers "Run-Away" With FWC Championship

They placed three runners in the top five; all seven men placed in the top twenty spots; they won their second straight cross country championship and their eighth title in ten years; guess who?

Answer; the best cross country squad in SSC's history.

Kent Summers led the way for the Hornets as he ran second to Nevada's Skip Houk, in 20:42. Houk won it in 19:57 around the four-mile Lake Merced course in San Francisco Saturday. Garland Pruitt was on Summer's heels in 20:45. Ron Nelson took a fifth place with a timing of 20:56.

Other Hornet finishers were Earl Hooper, eighth in 21:08; Bert Nichols, 11th in 21:26; Gordon Vredenburg, 15th in 21:35; and Mel Barret, 17th in 21:43.

The Hornet squad totalled 29 points compared with 80 for runner-up Nevada.

This afternoon the victorious Hornets will put their newly-won laurels on the line in the NCAA regional cross country championship meet in Fresno. This includes all the colleges belonging to the NCAA in the western United States. Long Beach State, winner of the California Collegiate Athletic Association, figures to be the team to beat for the determined Hornets who will have a rough time with San Diego State, too.
